Ethiopia

Adenah's parents come from Ethiopia.
 She tells Maya stories about this far away land.
 She tells her that people live in villages in small huts.
 They bring water from a well.
 They cook their food over a fire.
 They make bread called injara.
 They drink a lot of coffee. It is very bitter.

The villagers wake up at sunrise.
 They go to sleep at sunset.
 The people there live close to nature.
 They are never in a hurry.
 They are never late.

When she grows up, Adenah wants to visit her family's homeland.
